I Know

Written by: Samaneh Ghasemi

Illustrated by: Samaneh Ghasemi

Publisher: Shahre Ghalam

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2019

12 Pages

Dimension: 21x22

ISBN: 9786003204249

Book About:

There are many things that Qor-Qori knows and many other things that he doesn't. 'I Know' and 'I Don't Know' books make children familiar with thinking and asking (two essential life skills) through simple, fascinating narratives.

Author About:

Samaneh Ghasemi was born in 1981. As a child, she had no toy or dull to play with. So, she would amuse herself devising and improvising handiworks with paper and scissors. This early attraction to dimensions of shapes and cuts led her to designing books much later. Her first book was published when Samaneh was only 18. She graduated from university with a bachelor degree in graphics and later, she took a master's degree in children's literature. She has a great interest in creative and innovative designs in her books which are intended to entertain readers not only with the illustrative content but also with how the books and pages are designed. She believes that creative books can help children learn and enjoy newer and more dynamic aspects of the world. She regards writing for children as the best part of her life, and tries to incorporate themes that appeal to all children including those living in her own country. She has won many national awards including The Flying Pencil Award for The Best Children Book (Institute for the Intellectual Development of Children and Young Adults (IIDCYA), The Best Toy Book Award (the Turquoise Festival) and the Silver Turtle Award for The Second Best Children Book. She has written books extensively with great success: Yum! Yum! (2015), Find It Yourself (2011), Round, Round, Turn it Around! (2012), A Brand New Friend, (2015), and A Good Place, A Good Sleep (2019).

I am Zi

Written by: Azra Jozdani

Illustrated by: Hadiseh Ghorban

Publisher: Shahre Ghalam

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2017

10 Pages

Dimension: 22x24

ISBN: 978-600-320-3747

Book About:

Zi Series, a six-volume set of books for 0-6 year olds, is about a baby girl frog, living with her family and friends. Her wonderful adventures are accompanied with beautiful illustrations creating a relaxed, friendly atmosphere. In volume 1, Zi's Granny, her granny helps Zi to learn new things and sense danger. In volume 2, Zi's Ma, Zi broadens her experience about the town through painting with her Ma. In volume 3, Zi's Grandpa, he shows how to do fascinating things like catching prey with tongue! In volume 4, Zi's Dad, she spends a pleasant night with her dad learning how to sing. In volume 5, Zi's Brother, she learns how to adjust and cope with her newborn brother. In volume 6, Zi's Friend, Zi makes a new friend with whom she has little in common but they make the best out of it. Instead of teaching moral lessons in her stories, Azra Jodani penetrates into children's deep and intricate world with her writings. Her 'My Name is Mania' was registered in Munich's International Youth Library in 2007. Closely resembling children's world, Hadiseh Ghorban's illustrations show Zi's naughtiness perfectly.

Author About:

Azra Jozani was born in 1968. She started her writing career with children's magazines in 1990. Ever since, she's mainly focused on writing for children. All her writings, translations and editings are for 0 to 6 year-olds, an age range to which Iranian writers had been rarely concerned before 2000. Distancing from ideological thinking, she tries to have a professionally aesthetic perspective on children's literature while keeping a balance between popular fiction and literary fiction so as to create literarily rich stories which still absorb ordinary people's attention. Many of her books have won prizes, namely 'My Name is Mania' which was admired by the Iranian Children's Book Council and registered in Munich's International Youth Library in 2007. She also has a poetry collection, 'Hagebutte Verlag', which was published in 2018 in Germany.

Publisher: Shahre Ghalam

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2015

12 Pages

Dimension: 16x15

ISBN: 978-600-320-015-9

Book About:

‘The Cute Baby’, a 5-volume set, consists of some amusingly simple stories for children. Being entertaining for all little kids, it is especially amusing for those who don’t like to go to sleep, are still in the mood of playing and desperately seeking a reason not to fall sleep. The collection’s charming stories help you to send your children to sleep in time much more easily. ‘Good Night Cute Baby’ volume tells the story of a toddler who’s going to tidy up the mess made of toys before sleep. Playing an amusingly simple game, the toddler is encouraged to neaten their stuff and then go to bed.

Author About:

Atousa Salehi and Mojgan Kalhor are the authors. Being children’s writers for so long, they know their young readers’ needs well. Ali Jahanshahi, the illustrator, who’s among the most admired Iranian illustrators and cartoonists, has won numerous national and international awards for his works.

Publisher: Shahre Ghalam
Category: Children / Young Adults
Publish Date: 2016
10 Pages
Dimension: 29x29
ISBN: 978-600-320-362-7

Book About:

'Auntie Beetle and the Heroic Carrot' is an adaption of an Iranian famous folklore. Considering modern elements, it is meant to be more exciting and entertaining for today's children. 'Auntie Beetle and the Heroic Carrot' tells the thrilling story of a nice beetle who's married to a mouse painter. Auntie beetle is a writer. One day when she goes walking to think of a new subject, she twists her ankle and falls into a ditch. Using his sharp teeth, the mouse makes a ladder out of a carrot to rescue his wife. Afterwards, the mouse paints the rescue scene while auntie beetle writes its story.

Author About:

Hadis Lazar Gholami, poet and writer, was born in 1981 in Tehran. She has a bachelor's degree in communication science and has worked for different Iranian children and young adult publications. Goat With a Bell Feet and An Actor Wolf

Written by: Hadis Lazar Gholami
Illustrated by: Ameneh Arbaboun
Publisher: Shahre Ghalam
Category: Children / Young Adults
Publish Date: 2016
10 Pages
Dimension: 29x29
ISBN: 978-600-320-247-4

Book About:

'A Goat with a Bell on His Foot' tells the story of a mother goat leaving her three children at home while she goes to find food. At the same time, the wolf that's been waiting to catch the kids for so long, grasps the opportunity and knocks on the door. He has to disguise himself so as to deceive the kids who've been taught not to open the door to strangers. Although the wolf is quite smart and does his best to fool the kids, canceling out their mother's trainings, his plan doesn't work and he finally fails. Reading such amusing stories, children learn how to develop their social and communication skills. They especially learn how to take care of themselves in respect of contacting with grown-ups.

The Elephant With A Big Head

Written by: Shahrokh Marzooghi
Illustrated by: Hassan Amekan
Publisher: Shahre Ghalam
Category: Children / Young Adults
Publish Date: 2016
24 Pages
Dimension: 22x22
ISBN: 978-600-320-251-1

Book About:

The series tells the story of four strange elephants, which are unlike that of any other elephant in the world. One of them has a big head, the other has big feet, the third one is lazy and the last has pretty eyes. Big-Head is the smartest elephant in the world. He's invented a garbage-eating machine, using that garbage as the fuel. Although it's a great invention, there is a tiny little problem: it smokes a lot which concerns the other jungle animals. But Big-Head comes up with a bright idea...

Author About:

Shahrokh Marzooghi is a young children's author whose humanistic, straightforward view over different matters encourages children to be curious and inquisitive. Hassan Ameh-kan, the illustrator, has won numerous national and international prizes, namely Nami Island International Children's Book Festival (2018) and the 3rd Global Illustration Award (2018).

Catching The Biggest Fish

Written by: Parviz Kalantari

Illustrated by: Farideh Shahbazi

Publisher: Shahre Ghalam

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2016

24 Pages

Dimension: 29x29

ISBN: 978-600-320-301-3

Book About:

‘Catching the Biggest Fish’ tells the story of a boy living in the south of Iran, who goes to sea with his father to catch the biggest fish of all. One day, after catching many small fish, the biggest one gets caught in the boy’s hook. But the fish wails that if he lets it go, he’s given a great treasure. The boy feels sorry for the fish and lets it go. As he tells his grandma what happened during the day, she gives him the jewelry box of her own as a gift. ‘We Are Smiling Flowers’ collection consists of five stories, each occurring in a different Iranian region. Parviz Kalantari, the author, was among the most admired Iranian writers and illustrators. He was mainly concerned with the various Iranian cultures, trying to show his readers Iranian ethnics’ beautifully distinctive life styles.

Author About:

He was born in 1931 and died in 2016. He was a painter, designer, writer, contemporary Iranian journalist and a renowned modern Persian painter. Many of the familiar paintings for schoolchildren, especially in the textbooks of the old system of education such as Roubah-va-Khorous (The Fox and the Rooster), Choupan-e-Dorough-Goo (The Liar Shepherd), Hasanak-Kojaei (Hasanak Where Are You), Morghabi-ha-va-Laakposht (The Ducks and the Turtle) and Roubah-va-Zaagh (The Fox and the raven) were among his works. His parents were from the city of Taleqan, but due to his father’s occupation, they lived in the city of Zanjan for many years, and Parviz was born in Zanjan and lived there until the age of three. He showed his interest in the colours since childhood, and according to himself, he started practising the abstract painting by drawing on the walls of the neighbours’ houses. He studied at Alameh Elementry School and Sharaf High School in Tehran. In 1951, Kalantari entered the University of Tehran’s Faculty of Fine Arts and received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1959. He then joined the Franklin Book Program and became the publisher of educational textbooks and magazines; thus, he started working on textbook illustrations. In 1955, Kalantari was employed by the Planning and Budget Organization and continued working there until 1968, when he was transferred to the Institute for the Intellectual Development of Children and Young Adults. He started a new era in his artistic life by starting the Cobb paintings (Kahgel; building material made of clay), and he has continued until the last day of his life. His works have a tangible display of the lives of the desert and coastal people. He is well-known mostly for his Cobb paintings, and even many people consider him as the founder of the style of Cobb paintings but, according to himself, Marcos Gregorian was the first one to do this. Unlike Gregorian’s style which was wholly abstract and modern, Kalantari’s style is gentler and more natural. “I am the painter of the sandy landscapes of my homeland”, he says. That is why he pictured the rustic and native spaces and symbols in most of his works. He was also one of the celebrated artists of the Saqqakhaneh School of Art. He also contributed to writing and journalism and published several series of stories. Several of his artistic articles have also been published on the relationships between Iranian art and artists in Iranian publications. Kalantari worked at art centres, including the Tehran University’s Faculty of Fine Arts and the Children’s Art College in California. During a period, he was the director of Institute for the Intellectual Development of Children and Young Adults. He participated in several groups and individual exhibitions inside and outside of Iran. One of the artworks created by this outstanding painter has been printed on a particular UN Stamps List. Furthermore, his well-known Persian City artwork is in the UN headquarters in Nairobi.

Publish Date: 2018

22 Pages

Dimension: 24x22

ISBN: 978-600-320-443-0

Book About:

'The Improvident Ants' is the story of some ants eating all aphids they find, instead of saving them for the winter and don't take a blind bit of notice to their fellow's warning. As a result they go hungry in the winter. The ants look awfully regretful but there is nothing left to eat. The best Iranian Writers' series consists of 30 books of which 18 have been published. The series which is a sort of an encyclopedia of noted Iranian writers and illustrators, opens with brief biographies and reviews on their works.

Author About:

Ali Ashraf Darvishian 1941 – 2017 was an Iranian story writer and scholar. After finishing teacher-training college, he would teach at the poverty-stricken villages of Gilan-e-Gharb and Shah Abad (nowadays called Islam Abad). This atmosphere is featured in most of his stories. His own life situation, as well as the experiences that he had from his teaching in those poor areas, was the inspiration for his literary works and also made him a critic of the political and social situation of Iran. Later, he moved to Tehran and continued his studies in Persian literature. As of 2006, Ali Ashraf Darvishian was in Australia as a guest of the Iranian Centre for Democracy and presented a number of lectures on a broad range of social and cultural issues.

The series which is a sort of an encyclopedia of noted Iranian writers and illustrators, opens with brief biographies and reviews on their works.

Author About:

Seyyed Navid Seyyed Aliakbar is one of the younger writers of Iranian children's literature. He was born in 1983 in Tehran and majored in the restoration of historic artifacts. Seyyed Aliakbar began his story writing career at the age of seven when he had his stories published in magazines. The distinguishing feature of Aliakbar's stories is the pure and authentic imagination seen in them. Most of his works are for children. He tries to create a fantasy embedded in reality and associated with real life by using the cultural capacities and characteristics of Iranian children. It is this feature that distinguishes his works from those by the other new generation Iranian writers and attracts the attention of scholars and critics. I Can See

Written by: Davod Ghafae zadegan

Illustrated by: Mitra Abdollahi

Publisher: Shahre Ghalam

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2018

22 Pages

Dimension: 24x22

ISBN: 978-600-320-441-6

Book About:

The globetrotter hoopoe loves traveling. She flies from one tree to another, from one mountain to another. Being weary and having nowhere to stay, she gets to a tree where a parliament of owls live. They invite her in to spend the night. But there is no sign of the last night's hospitality as she wants to say goodbye and leave in the morning. The owls believe that no creature sees and travels in daylight, just like them. Then why would she do that? The best Iranian Writers' series consists of 30 books of which 18 have been published. The series which is a sort of an encyclopedia of noted Iranian writers and illustrators, opens with brief biographies and reviews on their works.

Author About:

Davod Ghafarzadegan's stories have no boundary. Like the story of hoopoe and the owls, he usually generalizes the human world to other creatures' worlds to show their different viewpoints. Reading such stories, children get to know with concepts like diversity and accepting others. Mitra Abdollahi, the illustrator, depicts the nature in a creative, distinctive way. She has won numerous national prizes namely the annual ceremony of the art of book design in 2015.s

Book About:

The best Iranian Writers' series consists of 30 books of which 21 have been published. The series which is a sort of an encyclopedia of noted Iranian writers and illustrators, opens with brief biographies and reviews on their works.

Author About:

Susan Taghdis was born in 1959 in Shiraz. She began her career as a writer by publishing her first story in Keyhan Bacheha Magazine. Susan Taghdis has been a founder of the Iranian Association of Writers for Children and Youth and has also been a board member. Taghdis has tried her hand in various fields including reporting, journalism, script writing, etc. She has also composed poetry for children. However, the activity that Taghdis is known for is writing stories for preschoolers and children. Writing stories for preschoolers may be one of the least visited areas of Iranian children's and young adult literature. Her stories for this age group develop with extreme brevity and sentences are short and simple, without any redundant description. Traces of humor is present both in Taghdis's language and in the content of her works. Some of her works are translated to other languages. Selected Works: Leila and the Sultan (1991), Nahade Honar Va Adabiyat A Gift for You (1993), Ghasedak Books Not Talking to You Anymore (1997), Barg Publishing Co. Have You Seen a Yellow Nose? Book About:

'Maheni' tells the story of a boy who's not able to talk. Not that he is born mute, but it's more like that he has forgotten how to talk. Instead of talking, he writes and writes. His hands are always tired and he is always running short of papers. But a new neighbor named Maheni, a girl of his age, changes everything for him. She takes a new approach towards him, shutting her eyes on his muteness completely. After a while, he takes an insect out of his throat, which may cause his muteness, and starts talking again. The best Iranian Writers' series consists of 30 books of which 21 have been published. The series which is a sort of an encyclopedia of noted Iranian writers and illustrators, opens with brief biographies and reviews on their works.

Author About:

Ozra Jozdani, the author, is among the Iranian new wave children's writers, who takes an aesthetic perspective to create literarily rich stories avoiding direct teaching to young readers. Many of her books have won prizes, namely 'My Name is Mania' which was registered in Munich's International Youth Library in 2007. Maheni Tazhibi, the illustrator, has created a unique atmosphere, perfectly suitable for the dreamy world of the story.

Author About:

Davod Ghaffar-zadegan was born in 1959, Ardebil, Iran. Using different types and styles of writing, he creates such moods and believable characters whose stories get readers engaged from the very beginning. Nature, human relations and miseries have been his main focus in a successful writing career spanning more than two decades. He has won numerous significant awards, namely the Twenty-Year Fictional Literature Award and the Golden Medal of the Children's Literature Festival (the Children's Writers' Association) as one of the best Iranian writers in the last two decades. His "Fortune Told in Blood" was published at the University of Texas. Some of his short stories have been translated into various languages.
