Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2019

22 Pages

Dimension: 14x21

ISBN: 978-622-6795-22-7

Book About:

Extracted from the story of Kelley and Demena. Kelley and Demena is a book containing a collection of fables. It was translated into Arabic in the Abbasid age specifically in the second hijri century (the eighth Gregorian century) by Abdullah ibn al-Muqaffa using his own writing style. A lot of researchers have agreed that the book goes back to Indian roots, and was based on the Sanskrit text Pañcatantra. Then it was translated into Pahlavi language at the beginning of the sixth Gregorian century by orders from Khosrow I.
