Book About:

What should you take with you when you go on a trip? A suitcase full of clothes? Or canned food? How about a pair of sunglasses? Or maybe a pair of sneakers? Now, what do you think a crow would take with him? A backpack? Warm clothes? A flashlight? Definitely not. If you want to know what crows need while travelling, come along and accompany our black crow.

Vaghti Mamanbozorg Koochak Mishavad

Written by: Inka Pabst

Illustrated by: Mehrdad Zaeri

Publisher: Koudakan Publishing House

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2019

64 Pages

Dimension: 20x20

ISBN: 978-600-6729-07-7

Book About:

"Granny, you're getting smaller!" I whispered in surprise. "Well," said Granny, and then nothing for a long time. From that moment on, something was constantly changing. When hanging up the laundry, Grandma now needs a stool to get on a leash. In her favorite ice cream parlor she needs a pillow to be able to look over the table at all. Her blue bowling shoes slip off her feet. When shopping, I now take over the potato tow and grandma wears the applesauce. And grandma looks at me and is pretty small, but also quite proud. Inka Pabst wrote a little story about saying goodbye, which goes to the heart and that you really want to pass on.

Author About:

Inka Pabst studied dance and drama and has been on the boards representing the world for half her life as an actress and singer. As a writer or co-author she developed three plays and writes songs for her band LADY PEPPI & THE WOOZY WOOFs in German and English. "When Grandma got smaller and smaller" is her children's book debut. Inka Pabst lives with her husband and two sons in Berlin.

Publisher: Koudakan Publishing House

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2019

72 Pages

Dimension: 21x21

ISBN: 978-600-92104-7-3

Book About:

A man drives his truck up to a cliff's edge. Unable to go any further, he opens the back door of his truck and a flock of birds flies out, but, as the man soon discovers, a small timid bird remains. Surprised and delighted, the man acts kindly towards the bird and an intimacy develops. After lunch, the man tries to show the bird that he should fly off and join his friends. The man's comic attempt at flight deepens the encounter between these two very different creatures. Soon the bird flies off and the man drives away, but in a surprise twist the bird and his friends return, and in a starkly lyrical moment we see them all experience something entirely new.

Book About:

In Ramadan it is nice to explain to our kids that we often take things for granted. Whether it's the delicious sweets we eat or something as simple as the water we drink, we become conscious of all that we have. This also reminds us of those who, every other day, aren't as fortunate as we are, fostering feelings of compassion and empathy. It explains that Ramadan is a month of peace and understanding...

Illustrated by: Alois Carigiet

Publisher: Koudakan Publishing House

Category: Children / Young Adults

Publish Date: 2016

28 Pages

Dimension: 27x21

ISBN: 978-600-6729-03-9

Book About:

Florina lives in a valley in the Swiss Alps with her mother, father and brother Ursli. One day, while walking in the mountains, she finds a tiny bird who has lost its mother and takes it home to care for it. Florina and the wild bird soon become best friends -- she makes food for it using her dolly tea-set and gives it a special basket to sleep in. When the bird grows up, its wings get bigger and it wants to fly. Florina must decide whether to keep the bird with her or release it back into the mountains.

Book About:

A mischievous fable to remind you that dreams and happiness are at your fingertips and that sometimes only a little is enough to transform everyday life. Inventive framing, rounded and colorful designs, as well as the sense of the absurd developed here, bring freshness and lightness. Armand works at the chain in a box of ravioli boxes. He lives in a dormitory city and when he is hungry he opens a box of ravioli. One day, a genius springs from the box and asks him to make two wishes. Confronted with possibilities more enticing than the others but of a confusing materialism, Armand makes very simple choices: to be in the middle of nature and to make a good meal. Only one problem, the genius can not get into his box! Never mind, Armand has more than one trick in his bag and will in turn be great.
